THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of New-York, No 44 Wall street—This Company, since its organization on the 1st February, 1843 (two years) has issued 1200 policies. The total amount received for premiums and interest on investments, $124,627, yielding a nett capital of $97 273, after paying all the losses and expenses. This accumulated capital is rapidly increasing by the 2d and 3d years' premiums now becoming due, and by a vastly extended and growing business. The eminent success and prosperity of this institution has placed it on a strong position. Its capital and resources are now so ample as to inspire confidence in its ability, and insure safety to its members.
The company is organized upon the most improved principles of Mutual Life Insurance, and offers very great advantages to whole Life Policies, or insurances for short periods, if continued till death, without incurring any personal responsibilities. At the expiration of every five years from the date of the first policy, (which will make the first division of profits be on the 1st of February, 1848) the whole of the profits will be divided among the insured in proportion to the amount of premium paid by them, and will remain at their credit as an accumulating fund, payable at the decease of the life insured.
The progress of this institution thus far gives strong grounds for anticipating large dividends to its members at the stated period of settlement, and equal to those of the most distinguished and successful Mutual Companies in Great Britain, where it is well known immense profits have been made.
The importance and utility of Life Insurance is becoming a matter of deep interest with all classes of the community and is now occupying much of public attention, and beginning to make favorable impressions as to the great benefits to be derived from it, as the published results of the business conducted by the company conclusively show.
Merchants and trade s, officers, civil, military and naval, clergymen and professional men generally, clerks, and persons in every station in society, may secure to their families in the event of death, a comfortable support and independence, by making with this institution, a small annual investment for such insurance as their ages.
Pamphlets, explaining the principles, and showing the advantages of Life Insurance, with the rates of premiums and forms of application, may be obtained at the office of this company No 44 Wall street, or any of its Agents.

FOR DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

JAMES COLLINS

OF IOWA COUNTY.

Wisconsin—the interior villages of Madison—Prairieville—Watertown—Geneva—Mukwonego—Troy—East Troy—Whitewater—Janesville—Jefferson—Delafield Aztalan—Lake Mills—Beloit—Elkhorn—Geneva—Rochester—Burlington—Delavan.

☞ The interior of Southern Wisconsin, in population, wealth and enterprise, is advancing in a four fold ratio. Racine, Rock, Walworth, Iowa, Dane, Milwaukie and Jefferson counties are fast filling up with a sturdy and intelligent people, and their wild lands are being subdued and brought into a high state of cultivation. Eight years ago this whole region was a trackless wilderness and wild prairie country; now, beautiful villages and lovely farm houses are dotting the plains with the cheering evidences of enterprise and civilization. No estimation with safety can be made as to the actual increase of population in these counties during the past year, so great has been the flow of emigration to our shores, but we think it has more than quadrupled.

Beautiful prairies, interspersed with handsome groves, and traversed by clear streams of pure water, a dry, arable land, with a prolific soil and a salubrious and healthy climate characterize all this section of the Territory. Probably no portion of the earth is more inviting to the mechanic and agriculturist, or more sure to return a good per centage upon the investment of capital. In this region the farmer can for years find a convenient home market for all he can produce, (and that too at the highest price,) that can be raised for years to come.

A country replete with so many blessings, and containing eventually so large a population, it were natural to suppose, must be interspersed with numerous villages, to serve as market places for the sale of their produce, and at which they can procure their merchandize. Such is the case with the interior of Southern Wisconsin; and while stating that those villages have sprung almost like enchantment into existence, it is proper to add, that as rapid as has been their growth, their existence and progression are based entirely upon a firm and healthy foundation; and that their rapid strides have been no faster than the growing resources of the surrounding country would warrant and sustain.

Madison is admitted to be the most delightfully located village in Wisconsin. Situated upon an eminence, gradually sloping off toward two of the four Lakes, it gives to the beholder, while standing in the streets, somewhat the appearance of a seaport town. The Capital, a beautiful building of free stone, is the most prominent object in the village. It can be seen at the distance of six miles, as you approach the town on the Milwaukie road. The village is steadily progressing in improvements, and increasing in size and importance.

Prairieville is 16 miles from Milwaukie, and is one of the largest inland towns in Wisconsin.—It is beautifully situated upon Fox river, which at this place flows through a broad prairie—has several churches—a number of stores, with good stocks, and bids fair in time to be a place of considerable trade and wealth.

Watertown is upon the West branch of Rock river, 60 miles from Milwaukie, in a Northwest direction, in Jefferson county. This village possesses one of the best water powers in Wisconsin, as the whole body of the river can be brought by dams and side cuts up to the banks, and used for the propulsion of machinery. Already a number of mills are in operation at that place, and buildings are going up in every direction for dwellings, factories, stores, &c. It is undoubtedly destined to be one of the greatest inland towns in Wisconsin.

Geneva, in Walworth county, is another thriving village, abounding with the advantages of a beautiful location, a central position. Situated in the heart of a rich agricultural county, it must ever be a place of considerable business. Already it contains eight stores, well stocked, together with churches and public houses. Like Watertown, it too has its hydraulic power, being situated at the foot of Geneva Lake, a beautiful sheet of clear, transparent water.

Janesville, the capital of Rock county, ranks now as one of the first interior villages. This village is located on Rock river, in a very advantageous position for water power, any quantity of which can be had here with great facility. Its growth has been unsurpassed by any other inland town in the Territory. It is located in the heart of the most lovely prairie country in the world.—All travellers visiting Janesville, are delighted with its adjacent country, which is rapidly filling up with an industrious, agricultural people.—Stages from every section of Wisconsin and Illinois centre at this point, and it consequently is a place of considerable travel—hundreds passing and repassing every week. From Janesville they are in the habit, during high water, of navigating Rock river, by running flat boats down into the Mississippi, and we believe it is in contemplation so to improve the river by dams and locks, that it can be navigable from this place at any time during the summer. This will afford an excellent opportunity for the farmers of that section to send their produce to the markets of the Mississippi cities. Twelve miles below, on Rock river, is the lovely village of Beloit, on the extreme Southern verge of the Territory. This village, we believe, has the reputation of being the largest inland village in Wisconsin. It is the oldest, and probably the most wealthy and populous. Like Janesville, it has an excellent water power, part of which is used for manufacturing purposes. It already contains a population of about 800, and is rapidly increasing. It is the seat of Beloit College, and Rockford Female Seminary. Besides the large number of well stocked stores, public houses, churches, it has an academical institution, which bids fair in time to be of incalculable benefit to education in Wisconsin.

Aztalan is yet but a small village, standing upon the West bank of the Crawfish branch of Rock river, in Jefferson county, on the direct Territorial road from Milwaukie to Madison—52 miles from the former, and 28 from the latter. The site for this village is most delightful, being upon a gentle eastern descent to the river, and surrounded with a country of oak openings and prairies. Adjoining the village plot of Aztalan, still exist those mysterious ruins of which travellers have so often spoken, and whose history will probably forever remain in a sealed book. They are the indubitable evidences of the existence of a civilized and enlightened people on Rock river, at a period entirely too remote in past ages, (when taken in connexion with the recent discovery of America,) for us to possess any knowledge of. All we can tell is, we have been amid the ruins—lingered with intense thoughts upon those mementoes of a departed nation. Of the people who built them we have no record, but the ruins are there, and the silence of death reigns over them, prompting the thoughts as none but such scenes can inspire. At the urgent request of several Eastern friends, we intend to speak of Aztalan and its ruins more fully in a day or two.

Lake Mills is quite a stirring little village three miles West of Aztalan, on the road to Madison.—This place is situated at the outlet of one of those beautiful clear lakes with which the interior of Wisconsin abounds. The outlet furnishes a handsome water power, upon which mills are already in operation. Lake Mills was commenced but two years since, and has grown with unexampled rapidity to quite a village.

Jefferson is six miles below Aztalan on the river—is the capital of Jefferson county, and a thriving village, with considerable trade and business. It also, we believe, has a water power for hydraulic purposes. The many advantages this place possesses, induce a general belief that it is to be a village of considerable importance.

Elkhorn is the capital of Walworth county, and beside the county buildings, has a number of other handsome edifices. Its central position seem to warrant its citizens in anticipating that in time it will rise to be a village of considerable magnitude.

Rochester, in Racine county, is on Fox river, about 30 miles from Milwaukie. It has an excellent water power, and doubtless will in time increase to the magnitude of a large and flourishing village.

Burlington is six miles below Rochester, on the same stream, and with an equally abundant water power. At this place an extensive Woolen Factory is now in the full tide of successful operation. The village, we understand, has bright prospects in perspective.

Whitewater is a village already of considerable importance. It is situated on Whitewater creek, one of the tributaries of Rock river, about 20 miles Northeast of Janesville; possesses a good water power, on which mills are now in operation, and at which considerable flouring is now done—The village is in a highly flourishing condition, and doubtless will be one of our largest inland towns.

Delavan is another rising village in Walworth county, located on Turtle creek which discharges into Rock river at Beloit. It has excellent water power, and several mills now in operation. This village, among other peculiarities, is noted for the temperance of its inhabitants—there being no ardent spirits, as we are told, either sold or drank there. Delevan is about 50 miles from Milwaukie, in a Southwest direction.

Delafield is a small village, on the Territorial road, 30 miles from Milwaukie, at the outlet of Pewaukie Lake, which affords hydraulic power to some little extent, and on which there is now a large flouring mill in operation. Like many other interior villages, it has its prospects for greatness in the future.

Troy and East Troy are two small villages in Walworth county, situated contiguous to each other. They are in the heart of a rich agricultural country—are the theatre of some business, which is gradually on the increase.

Mukwonego lies 24 miles in a Southeastern direction from Milwaukie, and is steadily advancing to a place of some little importance.

We have been thus particular in signalizing our inland villages briefly. Doubtless much more might be said of their resources, growth and enterprise, but time will not permit. Suffice it to say that they are all located in the very heart of one of the most beautiful countries on the face of the earth, which is rapidly filling up with sturdy, and industrious people. Much land in the vicinity of these villages remains yet unlocated and uncultivated, and this general notice of the interior section, and these flourishing business places, is intended more particularly for the benefit of those who are seeking our Territory for new locations and new homes.

Charity begins at Home.—Lord John Russell, in the British Parliament, made the astounding assertion, that with respect to religious instruction in Sussex, out of 877 prisoners, 141 did not know the Saviour's name, 483 just knew his name, and no more, 197 had a confused acquaintance with his history, and only 6 per cent. of the whole number had any reasonable knowledge of the Christian faith. Some said they had occasionally been in a place of worship, but that when they did attend all was darkness and confusion to their mind; and so they gave it up. And is this Protestant England—the land of bibles and missionaries?—Truly if they, before spending their thousands among the far off heathen, were to turn to their own prison houses and the abodes of starving wretchedness from which they are fed, they might soon learn that "Charity begins at Home," and that the greatest heathens are those of their own households.

☞ The new Post Office Law provides that two cents shall be charged on all drop letters—Now we are in the average receipt of three or four a day, which at such postage amounts to quite a little sum in a year. Yesterday we received a number of anonymous communications, dropped into our city post office, postage unpaid. In announcing that we consigned them to the "tomb of the Capulets," we wish to assert, that so great a tax upon our good nature is insufferable, and that if correspondents wish their communications to receive attention, they must pay the postage.

Gigantic Outpost.—Grand, indeed, is the improvement of human beings, goes ahead of all creation. A farmer near Boston recently, sent his son in search of his cattle. The boy started with his dog on a pile of logs, and the next morning was a man six feet in height, the tattered remnants of the boy's dress hanging upon the gigantic limbs of the figure. Who'll get up guano lodging houses?

☞ The very learned, candid and noble editor of the Prairieville Sentinel, whose wit and ready humor affected witticisms. All at once he has discovered that the regular editor of the Sentinel is a gentleman! Sorry are we that we cannot give him the same compliment in return. He finds it easy to play the part of an aggresive bully, & when his brutal interference with other people's business is resisted, to stand upon his dignity, and talk largely of "gentlemen," and "credit to the press!"—Doubtless he never heard the story of the man who made a fortune by minding his own business.

Cold Compliment.—We find the following toast among those drank on the Fourth:—

"By Michael Mease.—The Ladies of Pine Grove—Fair as a moonbeam on a snow bank."

Modern Love.—A shrewd observer of human nature, who has got out a patent dictionary, defines modern love as "a composition of one part of affection to nineteen parts of gold."

☞ At the recent election in St. Louis, the Native Americans carried the city by an average Majority in all the Wards of about 80, over the locofoco ticket.

Trouble in the Locofoco Camp—A Screw Loose.

Although rumors for some days past intimated that our Members of the Council would probably resign, yet but little confidence was placed in the report. We see, however, by this morning's Courier, that Mr. Ray has ventured upon the responsibility of such a measure. The position in which he endeavors to place Mr. Kneeland, to say the least, is by no means on his part politically generous. We premise a majority of Mr. Kneeland's constituents will not expect, much less ask him to resign. Alluding to this subject the Courier makes grimaces akin to having swallowed a vinegar cruit.

"Mukwonego, Aug. 7, 1845.

To the Electors of the Counties of Milwaukie and Washington:

Fellow Citizens:—Having this day tendered to the Governor of the Territory my resignation as a Member of the Council from this district, I take this method of apprising you of the fact. I beg you to accept of my warmest thanks for the partiality you have shown me, and be assured of my sincere regard for the honor, prosperity and continued success of the Democracy of the district, and the country generally.

As a difference of opinion in regard to public measures is known to have existed between myself and colleagues in the Council, and a public avowal on the floor of the Council by Mr. Kneeland, of his willingness to resign and leave the question to a vote of the people, the way for that gentleman, so far as his action in the premises may have depended upon my own, is now clear.

With respect,
I remain your serv't,
ADAM E. RAY."

The Bodies in the Whirlpool.

Correspondence of the Buffalo National Pilot.

Niagara Falls, Aug. 1st 1845.

The Whirlpool, near Niagara Falls, has of late become a receptacle of dead bodies. In addition to the two human bodies noticed on the 29th ult. (which still remain in the grasp of its "agitated waters") are added the bodies of two horses and a hog. These may be seen from the bank above, passing around a "funeral circuit" of a mile or more in circumference—each succeeding circuit, drawing them nearer the vortex of the Whirlpool, until each in their turn, become submerged beneath the boiling element—again thrown with violence from its angry embrace, to repeat its former evolutions. The sight of human bodies in the Whirlpool, is solemn and terrific—the blue waters seem to hold their prey, in defiance of human efforts to dispossess them—until satisfied in reveling with the dead, it emits them through its narrow outlet into the rapids below, to be entombed in Lake Ontario.

Expulsion of the Jesuits from France.

The Journal des Debats says, that—

"The Government on witnessing the progress making by the Jesuits in France, where they already possessed 22 establishments, had at first resolved to enforce the laws against that order, but have constantly declared it all that it had only in view the real interests of religion, the maintenance of public peace and union among citizens, the Government was anxious to prove by its acts the sincerity of its declarations, and deemed it expedient, before recurring to the rigorous exercise of its rights, to exhaust every means of conciliation and persuasion. A negotiation was accordingly opened with the chief of the Church, and confided to a member of the Royal Council of Instruction. M. Rossi was instructed to demand of the Holy See the suppression of the establishments of the Jesuits in France, of the chapels and noviciates, and the dispersion of the members of that order who had assembled to live in common. He, moreover, asked that those who wished to remain individually in the kingdom should re-enter the category of the ordinary clergy, and be placed under the authority of the bishops and parish priests. The government had every confidence in the wisdom of the Court of Rome, and we are happy to announce that its expectations has been realized. The negotiation, it may be easily imagined, was attended with great and numerous difficulties. But, thanks to the enlightened mind of Pope Gregory XVI, to the wisdom and experience of his councilors, and we must also add, to the frankness of the General of the Jesuits, those obstacles successively disappeared, and the cause of legality, prudence and peace, ultimately triumphed. All the demands made by the French negotiator were acquiesced in, and we have reason to know that the Superiors of the establishments of the Jesuits in France have already received orders from Rome to conform to the intentions of the Holy See."

Extraordinary Fecundity.—The wife of Mr. Elijah Marshal, Silver Lake township, Pa., near the Montrose Democrat office, was delivered on the 22d ult. of four children, all girls! They are doing well at the last accounts. Although but twenty-six years of age, Mrs. Marshal has already been the mother of 11 children.—[Pitt. Age.

Extraordinary Reaping.—A farmer in Charleston, Va., lately cradled nearly nine acres of heavy wheat in one day, and, on returning home, found that his wife had—"cradled" an infant! A thriving couple, truly.

Things in Philadelphia—Intense Excitement in Southwark, &c.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8—P. M.

The rowdy spirit, so long prevailing among the firemen of Southwark, has fairly worked itself up to the highest point.—The Commissioners of the District, on Thursday night last, withheld the annual appropriations from the Weccacoe Hose and Franklin Engine Company, in consequence of their riotous conduct. On Friday, two Companies settled their old difficulty, and resolved upon the commission of new outrages. Their bells were rung during Friday up to a late hour in the evening, and the citizens of the District thrown into a state of excitement and alarm by their acts.

Threats having been made of a serious character, the Sheriff was called upon by the citizens to preserve the public peace.—Early in the afternoon, the police force of the District of Southwark and Moyamensing, to the number of nearly 200 persons had assembled at their respective Halls, While the Mayor, in the city, had also in readiness a large force.

In the city, within a stone's throw of the Mayor's office, the members of the Mechanic and Western Engine Companies engaged in a desperate fight on Fourth st. below Chestnut, on Friday night, during which missiles of every kind were used with deadly intent. It continued for some time, yet no arrests were made.

Last evening the Weccacoe Hose house was illuminated and an inflamatory placard placed in front. Several more arrests were made, among them Caton Harwood, tried for riot in Southwark during the memorable outbreak of July 1844. He was arrested at the instance of the Sheriff, and committed to prison.

At 7 o'clock, the extensive brick building occupied by the Messrs Hughes, as a hay press, on Christian street wharf, Southwark, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm being sounded, the Companies of the District, five in number, went to the spot, but all positively refused to throw water upon it! Two of the city companies, the Hope and Southwark Hose, came down and went into service. They experienced much difficulty, were violently abused and threatened, the hose of the Hope being cut by the mob.

The fire raged, entirely destroying the building and contents—nearly 100 tons of hay. Loss $2000.

In short, we stand, as it were, upon a mine, ready to explode at any moment and inflict upon us another deep disgrace.—Everything is excitement,

Even in the city, there was a conflict to-day, in front of the Mayor's office, between the police and the Mechanic Engine Company, the latter evidently being intent upon disturbance. They were stopped, and ordered to return to their house, which after some little delay, they did, but engaged in a brutal fight in the upper part of the town, in which several were seriously beaten. We are a very orderly people—very quiet city.

Be not surprised to hear startling news.

PROLAPSUS UTERI.

THIS troublesome disease is cured by the use of Hull's Uterine Abdominal Supporter; from the many certificates in its favor we select only the following of Doctor Ashwell.—After its successful trial in Guy's hospital, the following certificate was handed to Dr. Hull's London Agent, for public use:—

13 Devonshire Square, London, Mar 17 1838.

"Having tried Dr. Hull's Instrument for the cure of Prolapsus and Procidentia Uteri, I am glad to express a highly favorable opinion of its utility. In a severe case of entire Procidentia, lately under treatment at Guy's Hospital, it was applied with marked success. Its great superiority over the pessary consists in its affording efficient support to the weakened abdominal integuments, and in its external application, instead of its introduction into the vagina. I quite think it will accomplish a permanent cure better and more quickly than the pessary. SAMUEL ASHWELL, M. D.

Obstetric Physician, and Lecturer to Guy's, London.

Sir Astley Cooper, after the apparatus had been several months under his inspection, gave the following opinion for publication:—

"This apparatus is beautiful for its simplicity; it is no acquisition to practice. The principle of its operation is quite original and perfect. I shall advise its use, and make use of it in my own practice, in preference to anything I have seen."

The above valuable instrument can be found at the Medical store of the undersigned, who is the agent for the sale of the same in Wisconsin. A. F. CLARKE,

HALE & HOPKINS have now on hand a very large supply, and an extensive assortment of

BOOKS AND STATIONERY

SEVERAL TIMES larger than the stock of any other, or all other similar establishments in this Territory. They will also open, in a few days, a heavy and new stock just purchased and now in store, comprising Books and Stationery in every department, including a splendid variety of a larger and more elegant assortment than was ever before offered for sale in Wisconsin.

 H. & H. are compelled, by circumstances, to state the facts above, in regard to the extent of their stock. The citizens of Milwaukie know the truth of what we have said—our friends from the country are invited to call and see for themselves. [illegible]
